

A close-up, top-down view of a large stack of cut logs. The logs are arranged in a dense, overlapping pattern, showing their circular cross-sections. The wood is a warm, reddish-brown color, with visible growth rings and some darker, possibly charred or stained, areas. The text "FINDELOT" is overlaid in the center in a large, white, sans-serif font. The background is a solid, dark color, likely black, which makes the logs and the text stand out prominently.
